Introduces A New System For The Foodservice Industry

MRS Series

Modular Multi-Compressor Refrigeration Systems

More Than Just A New Product

This is not just a new product launch, it's an entire program, including dedicated sales and service support, created to meet the refrigeration requirements of the foodservice industry.

Why Remote?

By remoting all refrigerated equipment in your establishment, including reach-ins, walk-ins and ice machines, to a single MRS system, you can remove the heat produced by multiple refrigeration units from your kitchen or store and reduce your air conditioning load and energy bill. The MRS system, typically roof-mounted, also reduces noise level, service calls and extends the life of equipment.

Modular Concept

Modular design sets the MRS series apart. Each system is composed of individual modules containing a condenser, compressor, generously-sized receiver and other appropriate components all enclosed within a single stainless steel housing.

This modularity maximizes configuration flexibility, simplifies service and provides for future expandability.

MB MRS SERIES

Features	Benefits
Pre-wired to an electrical panel for one-point connection a	Simple, cost-effective installation
Single roof penetration point	Reduces installation cost and chances of roof leakage
Stainless steel housing	Durable, weather-resistant enclosure
Multi-circuited condensers rated at 110°F	Able to withstand high ambient temperatures
Modules equipped with head masters and crankcase heaters	Provides protection in low ambient temperature situations
System designed for increased airflow across compressors	Efficient cooling of each module
Time clocks for both low and medium temp compressors	For ease of service and optional defrost scheduling
Pre-piped to internal pitch pocket	Decreases water leakage from roof
Can be combined with an optional Master Controller system	Increased system efficiency

Applications Include:

QSRs

Restaurants & Hotels

Convenience Stores

Cafeterias & Commercial Kitchens

And Many Other Places

The MRS series is part of a diverse Master-Bilt product line that includes walk-ins, reach-ins and all other foodservice refrigeration equipment. Take a look at www.master-bilt.com or call us at 800-647-1284 and see how we can be your single provide from the front of the house to the back.
